I do not support morse code as a requirement in testing for ham radio. It is in outdated means of comunication. As the military does not use it enymore.